MISS PETTICOLAS TELLS CENSUS MAN

Answers Questions as to Her Age, but Does So Under Protest.

Under some protest, Miss Ellie Petticola, of 2300 West Grace Street, yesterday gave her age to Census Supervisor C. Ridgeway Moore. The warrant sworn out on Wednesday charging her with refusing to answer the questions of the enumerator was then withdrawn by United States Commissioner Joseph P. Brady. Miss Petticola informed the officials that she had been in long distance communication with Census Director Durand, President Taft, Secretary Carpenter and other dignitaries, and seemed somewhat put out that no telegram had been received from Washington. She stated that so far from having given up the contest with the census people, she had not yet begun to fight. At the office of the United States District Attorney, it was stated that there was no way to compel any person to answer the questions. A fine and imprisonment is provided for those who do not, and any person unwilling to give the information required may get out of an embarrassing situation by payment of about $100 to the support of the Federal government. Those who neither pay nor answer may have the coils just vacated by Fay and Harris at the Henrico jail. The government offers the option, and expresses some indifference as to what the individual choice may be.

SUSPECT BEING HELD

Police Think They Have Negro Who Is Responsible for Many Daring Hold-Ups. Thomas Jackson, colored, charged with being a suspicious character, is being held in the First Police Station while the police look up his actions for the past three weeks. Jackson is suspected of being responsible for the daring hold-ups which have been pulled off in Richmond within the last three weeks.

Jackson was arrested Wednesday night after a long chase by Bicycle Officers Gehring and Palmer and Officer Kuhn. He could not give the bail required of him by Justice Crutchfield, and will remain in jail until his record is looked into.

FAINTS WHEN SENTENCED

Mrs. O'Connor Can't Stand Shock of Being Convicted in Police Court. Mrs. Willie O'Connor, charged with conducting an objectionable resort at 1800 Venable Street, fainted in the Police Court yesterday when Justice Crutchfield found her guilty and fined her $50 on one charge and $20 on another. As soon as the woman was in condition to be talked to, Mrs. J. W. Stewart, of Boston, who was a spectator in the court, went to her aid and offered to lend her the amount required to get her out of jail. The loan was accepted, and Mrs. O'Connor was released on the payment of the fines.

WILLIAMSON CASE ENDS IN MISTRIAL

Jury Fails to Agree After Deliberating for Several Hours.

DEAD BODY IDENTIFIED

Pennsylvania Battlefield Commission Holds Interesting Meeting.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., April 28.
After deliberating for several hours, the jury in the case of Julius A. Williamson, for the alleged poisoning of his wife, reported shortly before 11 o'clock to-night that an agreement was impossible and the members were discharged from further service. It is understood that they were evenly divided.

In his charge the judge instructed that the verdict would have to be either for acquittal or murder in the first degree. Both the Commonwealth and defense rested their cases at 12 o'clock to-day in the trial of Julius A. Williamson for the alleged murder of his wife by poison. The court immediately directed the room to be cleared, and took a recess of an hour to consult with the counsel as to the instructions to be given to the jury, and the instructions prepared by the court were subsequently given to the jury. Between 1 and 2 o'clock the jurors in charge of the Sergeant and Deputy-Sergeant Block, accompanied by the lawyers for the prosecution and defense, were taken in automobiles to the former Williamson home on McKim Street, where the poison was alleged to have occurred. Here a thorough inspection of the house, as had been described by witnesses, was made.

Williamson, in his testimony in behalf of himself, yesterday afternoon, made reference to the charge of poisoning his wife, and of all statements tending to incriminate him. He declared that he ate dinner with his wife, partaking of the cornbread and cabbage of which she ate; that his wife was taken ill while eating; that he was taken sick afterwards, with vomiting and symptoms similar to hers. He detailed how he had run for the doctors to attend his wife; how he did everything possible for her, and how they had always lived happily and peacefully together. He said that his wife knew when he married her, that he was married to another woman living in Texas, and denied that he had written to Texas to his first wife's folks there, telling them of his sickness and death. The Commonwealth's attorney here introduced letters alleged to have been written by Williamson to his wife, which were objected to by the defense and ruled out as immaterial.

Williamson, when recalled to the stand this morning, told of his escape from the temporary jail here. He said he went out through the doors; that Mrs. Tibbs, his ill child, and that afterwards, hearing of the charges of bigamy against him, he took "French leave" and went West.

It had been testified by R. L. Bowman, a druggist at the corner of Bank and Short Market Streets, that on the morning of June 9, the day of the alleged poisoning, a man resembling the prisoner came into his store and asked for arsenic, but he refused to sell him any. Mr. Bowman could not identify the prisoner as the man.

Emmett Collier, this morning testified that he saw the prisoner at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 9, while he was standing across the street, he saw a man whom he identified as the prisoner, enter and leave Mr. Bowman's store.

The Commonwealth introduced several witnesses in rebuttal, and several character witnesses. The evidence in the case was mainly rebuttal. It has never been established where Williamson purchased any arsenic. Argument in the case was begun at the afternoon session, with the prospect of a verdict to-night, if the jury agrees. The verdict must be either for murder in the first degree or acquittal.

Body Identified.
The body found yesterday afternoon in the Covington marshes, on the old river channel, in Chesterfield County, was fully identified as that of R. L. Jackson, a citizen of Petersburg, who disappeared from his home on Rowe Street, on the evening of April 16. The body was very much swollen and decomposed, and it could not be discovered whether there were any marks of violence about it. An inquest was held this morning and the jury rendered a verdict of death by drowning. On the body were found papers and tax receipts, bearing Mr. Jackson's name.

Mr. Jackson is survived by his wife and several children and brothers. The supposition is that he fell in the river at Bermuda Park or elsewhere. On Friday last a body was seen floating

Acting on the report of a subcommittee and the advice of Consulting Engineer Trafford, the Council Committee on Electricity last night awarded to Storm & Co., of Newark, N. The bid was based on a system of units, the total estimated cost being $54,000. The contractor has 180 days from the date of approval of the award of contract by the Council in which to complete the work. Mr. Trafford said that he expected to have the power-house ready by the time the poles and wires are in place, and if weather conditions are favorable would deliver the plant by November 1.

Contract for the conduit work in the underground district has already been awarded to the McKay Engineering Company. Certain allowances are to be made on the distribution contract in sections of the city where existing poles of various private corporations are to

AUTOS MUST OBEY LIGHT ORDINANCE

Police Issue Order to Remedy Laxity on Part of Owners and Crutchfield Will Take Cases.

Orders to the police to report all violations of the ordinance requiring proper numbers and lights on automobiles have been issued by the Police Department, and a number of automobilists were in Police Court yesterday morning to answer charges of irregularities. It is alleged by the police that the auto owners have, in some cases, become very lax in looking after their numbers and lights, and it is proposed to keep them up to the mark.

W. H. Batten, manager of the Virginia Auto Car Company, was one of the alleged delinquents, but he failed to appear when his name was called in Police Court. A rule was issued for him, and he will appear this morning to answer the charge. Mr. Batten is said to have been without a number in front of the Broad Street Park last Saturday afternoon.

John K. Harper, manager of the Ford Auto Company, was also reported for failure to display the rear light on April 25. Mr. Harper testified that he had his car out until 10:30 o'clock on the night in question, and declared that his lights were properly in place.

Officer Bradley, who made the report, stated that he saw the car without lights long after midnight on April 25, when it was reported. Mr. Harper then stated that the car was out without his consent. If it was his car on the street at that hour, and that he would have to find out about the matter before he could do anything. Justice Crutchfield dismissed the case with a warning.

James A. Moncure was reported yesterday for running his machine on April 23 without the proper lights. He will be heard in Police Court to-day.

FINALLY AGREE ON ASPHALT BLOCK

Street Committee Awards Contract to I. J. Smith for Street Paving.

WARM ROAST BY CHAIRMAN

Chairman Raps Policy of Trying to Get Pet Schemes Through Council.

After prolonged debate, the Council Committee on Streets last night awarded to I. J. Smith & Co., the contract for paving the roadbed of the four blocks surrounding the John Marshall High School Building, the material to be the asphalt block made by the Washington Asphalt Block Company, of Washington, a large quantity of which has been used in smooth paving a number of the principal thoroughfares of the city. The fight was between this preparation and the patent formula used by the Atlantic Bitulithic Company for a sheet paving similar to that which has been used in Norfolk. A subcommittee to which the bids had been referred returned them without recommendation. The Washington concern bid direct at $2.20 per square yard, and I. J. Smith & Co., on the use of the same block at the same price, the blocks to be laid on a foundation of rolled sand. The Atlantic Bitulithic Company bid $2.14 per square yard, laid on concrete.

Block Paving Satisfactory.
City Engineer Bolling stated that the block paving had been used here with satisfactory results, the blocks around the Jefferson Hotel having been down fourteen years.

On the work in hand he said there was a difference of $120 in favor of the bitulithic, which has so far not been tried here.

Mr. Bolling said he had seen the formula used in other cities, and it made an excellent paving. His only objection was that in case it became necessary to cut into the street to make pipe connections it was almost impossible to repair the paving without leaving an uneven place, while the block paving can be put back on a concrete base without showing where the cut was made. Taking into consideration the cost of repairs and the new formula, Mr. Bolling said he considered the block the better.

To Open Streets.
The Richmond and Henrico Railway Company was given permission to open streets and lay tracks from the city limits on Brook Avenue to the junction of the proposed line at Fifth and Broad with the tracks of the Richmond Traction Company, and on Marshall Street from Twenty-first to Thirty-first. Attorney Kelley informed the committee that twelve carloads of steel cables had arrived, though no work of erection had been begun. Mr. Lynch opposed further digging in the streets until the committee was informed what the new company proposed to do for motive power, while Mr. Richards objected to the proposed change of route which would take the line through Chimborazo Park from Thirty-first and Grace Streets to Fulton. On the roll call, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Richards and Mr. Wise were the only negatives.

Mr. Kelley assured the committee that his company would have all the funds it needed and would press its work to a prompt conclusion, saying that it was now looking about for a site for a power-house.

The old Miles Ravine controversy came to the front again, and was the subject of prolonged discussion, Allen G. Collins, attorney for Miles and others, refusing to accept the compromise agreed upon, and in a letter to the committee claiming that the alleged contract of 1907, spread on the record of the City Court, was his own work, and in effect. After hearing from Mr. Miles, who was present, it appeared that there was still some hope of a compromise, and the matter went over to secure releases from adjoining property owners.

For New Bridge.
Carter C. Jones and John W. Moore, assigned as members of the committee from Washington Ward, were duly seated, making the committee sixteen in number.

On the roll call Mr. Jones called up a resolution relating to the construction of a new bridge, and on his motion a subcommittee, consisting of Chairman Adams and Messrs. Moore, Jones, Lynch, Pollock, Ferguson and Davis, with the City Engineer and City Attorney, were named to confer with the owners of Mayo's Bridge, and report as to the propriety of a bridge connecting Fourteenth and Hull Streets. The present Mayo's Bridge, it is understood, has been offered to the city for $140,000, or the city may parallel it with a new structure if that is found more advisable.

On the adjournment City Engineer Bolling, a resolution was sent to the Council appropriating $6,000 for a complete topographical survey of Washington Ward, with maps, profiles and grades.

Lectured by Adams.
On the roll call almost every member of the committee had some project which he wanted to recommend to the Council with an appropriation attached. So noticeable did this become, that Chairman Adams left the chair and delivered his fellow-members a severe lecture on the methods of doing business, when he asserted that he was making the committee a laughing stock, both in the Council and in the city.

"It is all foolishness, the merest gallery playing," he asserted. "You ward delegations come in here night after night, and make appropriation after appropriation for smooth paving and all sorts of things that you know the Finance Committee won't provide money for, and that you yourselves wouldn't vote for if you had looked over the ground. It is child's play, that members of the committee should be ashamed of." The immediate cause of his protest was a proposition of Mr. Billey to replace the present vitrified brick paving on Franklin Street, between Second and Third, with asphalt blocks, admitted to be a little less noisy. Mr. Adams asserted that there were miles of streets paved with granite blocks, and more noisy, and still other miles that were not paved at all, which had first claim before money was wasted in tearing up a good paving to put down another of similar character. Mr. Billey withdrew his motion.

Hustings Court.
The jury for the April term of the Hustings Court was discharged yesterday for the term. The case of Kizzie McClellan, charged with a felony, was postponed until the next day of court, after which court adjourned and the jury was discharged for the term.
